Welcome Fall with Jed's selection of sultry, end-of-summer whites.

End of Summer Whites

If summer has to end, then say good bye with Gavi. The perfect alternative to Pinot Grigio, this well-received white will complement lighter foods of the season with its crisp, refreshing notes.

The Wine-maker, Gregg Brewer

Forget the raving critic's reviews. Never-mind the high scores from reviewers. These are wines that deserve recognition for those who love the liquid-gold as do we at Fairway Wines & Spirits such as the Cal-Ital (California grown Italian varieties) wines. Look for the Palmina label his close friend Steve Clifton works on. Try the Melville or Brewer-Clifton. Want a California Chardonnay you can love? Go Diatom; it will change your life... it did ours!

REDS AND WHITES

Melville's 2009 Pinot Noirs are just one of those vintages that humm. While there are many, many great PN producers, none have caught our attention as have Melville's.
